Dear Family,

Sunday, October 26, 1997

Hyrum and I went deer hunting Oct 9th through the 11th. The high school was on half day Thursday and school was closed statewide Friday. Willis went hunting with me the previous week. Willis had a sleep over birthday party Thursday night so he did not go with me this time. We took the seats out of our van and slept inside. It rained on and off. Friday morning we woke up to a little bit of snow. It also snowed Saturday a.m. We didn't see any bucks, but had a great time. Hyrum did not go hunting with me the previous week because he had to perform in a marching band competition with the high school. His grade is dependent upon perfect attendance. Hyrum also has to go to all the home football games. He says that they are so busy playing music that he doesn't see much of the games.

At the district X-country meet last week Hyrum ran JVs. He took 7th place and got a ribbon. He was pleased with his effort. He passed two other runners on his way to the finish line. Hannah ran well, but only placed 17th over all out of 49. She was only six seconds off her personal best. Still she was disappointed because she had beaten a lot of other girls in the dual meets.

Hyrum went to the homecoming dance last night. He went stag. I asked how it went. He said, "Church dances are a lot better." Hyrum said that a lot of people were drunk, the dance floor was crowded, the cafeteria was hot, and that the music was not the greatest. There were two police cars in the parking lot, but to my knowledge no one was arrested. The police in Lake Oswego are more "blind eye" on youth with alcohol than they should be.

Hannah went to the dance with Toby a boy from the cross-country team. They went out to dinner with a few other couples first. They went Dutch on dinner. Hannah asked me for some money just before Toby got here. Charlotte made Hannah a new dress. Toby had to wait in the living room while mom finished sewing up the hem. The dress and Hannah both looked
