The argyle mines in Western australia is the largest diamond producer in the world. The diamonde are mined by surface quarijing It supplies one quarter of the worlds nucle.