Lewis Sees Much Action In New Year

Games, Plays, Parties and Assemblies To Yield Pleasure

Ho hum! The daily routine of Lewis Junior High school has already become familiar and commonplace to the thousands of students who anticipated it two weeks ago. The prospect of the opening of school was then new and exciting. The thought of buying books, meeting new teachers, and arranging classes captured the interest of all. Now school is running smoothly and everyone has settled down to business, struggling energetically through classes. Although the thrill of the beginning of school has passed, the real activities lie in the future.

There are athletic events, drama, opera, dances, and assemblies to be enjoyed; and there are fascinating lessons in the world of knowledge to be brought within the experience of the students. School has only begun, and the best is yet before those fortunate enough to attend.—Marjorie Jarvis.

LEWIS PLAYGROUND

During the summer a new fence was erected around the Lewis playground. The playground, protected by the fence, is one of the best in the city.

The frame is made of welded steel sunk in concrete. The wire is known as cyclone wire and is about the best on the market. This fence stands six feet high. It can endure almost anything except being climbed over.

The old fence has been moved and the playground enlarged to twice its former size. The ground has been cleared, leveled and graveled, resulting in an ideal playground and practice field for football and track.

The student body, and faculty, wish to thank the board of education for this welcome improvement.—Margaret Jones and Hermoine Minnoch.

CLASS OFFICERS

EX ANIMIS

The first meeting of Ex Animis club was held Monday, September 10, in the club advisor's room. Miss study best. Perhaps you find that by proceeding in your own way you are able more easily to understand the work. However, you should be able to improve your method by applying the above suggestion. Do your work regularly and give it your best attention. The results will prove interesting and most beneficial.

FOOTBALL

Scrimmage practice has made this week one of excitement for the football huskies of the school. Last week exercises, punting, close in blocking, tackling, and passing were emphasized.

According to Coach Doxey the Lewis team averages fifteen pounds heavier per man than last year's team. With this advantage in weight and thorough training in every department of the game, the Lewis boys are looking forward to active competition.—Hal Workman.

Americans Spurn 'Must' in 'Doing' Paris

PARIS, (UP)—American tourists have signed a private declaration of independence. The 1934 American tourist balks at doing any of the "musts" as regards sightseeing unless the sights really are worth seeing and to their individual liking.

Rabelais' motto, "do what thou wilt," is the slogan of the modern tourist. "I don't have the museum habit," they now frankly admit, "and I cannot acquire it during the few days I am here. I scarcely know the difference between a fresco and a fire plug, so why should I tire myself out by trudging thousands of miles through museums when I can have a better time doing something else?"

Today the thing which "has got to be done" by tourists has disappeared. The 1934 tourist has removed the "must" from the dictionary.

Pupils Give Greeting To Teachers

Central Junior Begins New Year With Wave of Activity

After a temporary sleep, the deserted central junior high school building is awakened once more by the clamor and tumult within its walls. Many former Centralites distractedly seek their way through the perplexities of the first day. Many types of pupils enter the "gate to learning," some enthusiastically, others nonchalantly, and still others enter with that melancholy air and straightway begin counting the days until the next vacation.

The student body of Central welcomes the new faculty members. We salute all the teachers who guide us along the difficult road that leads to greater knowledge.

Central is proud of her students. Therefore, take advantage of the opportunities the present offers.—Maren Eccles.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

On Thursday morning the student body of Central Junior nominated candidates for the student council for the coming year. On Friday, the nominees were presented to eager audiences of the students after which the final elections were held. The officers elected are:

President, Bill Malinowski; Vice President, Virginia Loveland; Secretary, Lottie Lund; tenth grade representative, Patty Brown; ninth grade, Robert Stowell; eighth grade, Buddy Heimer; yell leaders, tenth grade, Bruce Robinson; ninth grade, George Stevens; eighth grade, Gerald Waterfall.

School Will Soon Boast Large Band

Orchestra Also Formed Among Mound Fort Students

There has been no time lost at Mound Fort in preliminaries in the start of this school year. Lessons, football, and other scholastic activities are well under way.

The music department of Mound Fort under the direction of Mr. Douglas Brian has already given indications of a successful year. Plans have been made for two cantatas and an opera. There is an even larger enrollment in the music department than last year, so competition for parts in the projects will be keen.

Mound Fort has always had a large band, but this year it is even bigger, and judging from the sounds coming from the music room before school, it will be better. The orchestra has also been organized, and with its week of practice sounds very promising. Thirty members have been enrolled. We are looking forward to some fine work.

NEW ART DIRECTOR

Mr. Welden Burnham, our new art teacher, comes to us from Utah State Agricultural college, having majored in art and received his bachelor of science degree at that institution. He has also studied art with Berger Sanzen of Bethany college, near Kansas City, with Lee Randolph of the Fine Arts Academy, San Francisco, and with Bror Nordfeldt, Santa Fe. Mr. Burnham is a fine commercial artist, and before coming here worked mostly along that line. His highest ambition is to become a great portrait painter.

We can see that with Mr. Burnham's fine training and the co-operation of the students our art department should be a great success.

We welcome him to our school and hope he will enjoy working with us.—Ellen Wilson.

NEWS WRITERS

All students wishing to apply for positions on the news notes staff should report to a meeting in Miss Tanner's room, 203, Monday, September 17 at three-thirty. Anyone interested in the position of typist should attend the meeting.—Blaine Levedahl, editor.

PEP CLUB ELECTIONS

Elections were held at the first meeting of the Pep club Thursday, September 6. Fern Hart was elected president, Margaret Cross was elected vice president, and Doraime Herbert, secretary. Wednesday was decided upon as the official day to meet.

A second meeting was held on Wednesday September 12 at which the pattern for the Pep dresses was chosen. We hope to have our dresses made for the first football game. The last year's Pep girls held a meeting Friday to plan the initiation of the new girls into the club. We all hope to make a success out of the Pep club this year.—Ruth Gale.

Cat, Crow Great Pals In Eastern Farm Home

WESTFIELD, Mass., (UP)—A cat and crow are inseparable companions at the home of Clarence Axlerod.

A neighbor saw the crow in a cornfield and wounded it with a rifle. He took the crow home, nursed it, and it recovered eventually from the wound. Later he gave it to Axlerod.

Now, the crow, named Pete, plays in friendly fashion with the Axlerod family cat, Teddy. They eat from the same dish. Pete has been taught to catch coins tossed into the air. The crow hides them as a dog would hide bones.

Having forgotten her purse, Mrs. R. Williams of Ogmore, Wales, hurried home to get it and arrived just in time to save her two-year-old son from drowning in the kitchen sink.

Miss Nilsson's 2G class elected Pete Alexander, president; Charlene Lindquist, vice president; Tressia Trask, secretary.—Charlene Lindquist.

EX ANIMIS

The first meeting of Ex Animis club was held Monday, September 10, in the club advisor's room. Miss Nilsson remarked that the club this year will be more exclusive. Only those who prove themselves interested and make good as reporters will be received into the club. Active members on last year's staff will be allowed to remain. New talent of the right kind, is welcomed, however.

Ex Animis is anxious to have every student who is interested and willing to work. The weekly work and the parties held by the club will prove equally attractive to such students.

The next meeting will be held in room 308, Monday the seventeenth. Every junior high member who is interested is invited to attend.—Audre Young.

NEW CLASSES

This year students have been truly fortunate in having an opportunity to take up additional studies. At the last period on Monday and Tuesday is a regular tenth grade music class from which many great things are expected, judging from the group of ambitious people under the direction of Miss Hardy.

In the seventh period each day, there is also an oral expression class taught by Mrs. Rose. From this group talent for school dramatic productions will be selected.

In the sixth period a French class which is taught by Mr. Doxey, has been formed. There are a large number of students taking advantage of this opportunity to learn French.

Latin classes have been organized and will be under the direction of Miss Stevens.

These new classes will not only give variety but also will help many students to choose and prepare for their careers.—Zudora Blakey.

STUDY

One of the best aides in effecting studying is to do a certain subject at a certain time each day regardless of possible interference. Soon concentration will become a habit and you will not think of doing anything else at that time.

NEW SERVICE

... Instead of an "Overhaul" a factory reconditioned

Every mechanism, no matter how finely made wears and must be reconditioned. Automobile exception.

The Ford V-8 is the finest, most dependable engine Ford has ever built. But there comes any piece of machinery should be reconditioned efficiency originally built into it.

The Factory that built this engine is best equipped to recondition it. Here are the men, the precision equipment, the inspection methods which insured the excellence in the first place. Therefore the Ford Motor Company has instituted this exclusive new service to owners of Ford trucks. When the owner of any Ford built engine that his engine needs an "overhaul", he can have a reconditioned engine—at approximately half the cost of an old-fashioned "overhaul".

The Ford owner not only gets a much better engine—but only a few hours are required to make it so.

This "Exchange Plan", which also includes maintenance, is an important feature of Ford cars and trucks is an important feature of automotive practice.
