

I was also pleased that you included some of the LDS women in the project. This might help them educate their children, if their husbands don't run off with all the money. You seem to have a very nice husband in that respect. I used to watch the men standing around waiting while the women sold a piece of crochet, and then they would grab the money and run for drink.

Your profit might be a little delayed. The money enclosed for the 10 ornaments will reimburse you for your out of pocket costs not paid for by my original check plus some, but when you get the quilts and batting you should be able to realize some profit as some of the quilts and batting were ~~xxx~~ to pay you for the 20.60 ~~xxxx~~ airmail postage on the original shipment.

One source I thought for sure would take some said they have gone entirely out of the crochet business. Tough. But Tracy and I still want to go to some of the ski resorts and see if they will handle ~~xxxxxx~~ them on a consignment basis like the lady down at Brian Head Ski resort did before she went out of business.

As soon as I get the ~~xxxxx~~ letter from you saying you got the first two checks, I will send the final (until I get some other orders or can sell some to the relief society ladies) check for order number 4.

Love,

Ida-Rose Hall

Enclosed is a personal check for $40.00

Please let me know if the yarn was included in the $28. or not as I am using this as a basis to know what I can sell them for. The sky is the limit on one end, but I need to know how low we can go, too. and still pay your crocheters, your thread, and a profit for you.

So far, if the yarn was not included, if you send them by slow boat instead of airmail, they will cost when they get here about $30. cents each. Allowing for hiring someone to block them, and a profit at this end, (if we can find commercial buyers) we might have to clear $1.00 for each ornament at least to make it worth our while. I may be able to find someone who will order them direct from you, and you can eliminate me in the operation entirely. We will have to see what happens in that respect.
