

Gunn: The lady said she preferred to be on terra firma. The more the firma the less the terra. Amen to that!

Saw caribou, bear and Dall sheep on the return. The bears were the same as we saw coming up, but they had moved closer to the road. The sheep were high up on the mountains, but the caribou were closer this time on this <sup>other</sup> side.

We've been hoping to see a moose.

Gunn: We'll just have to face the moosie.

We moose see a moose.

Russ: We're looking for a moosletoe.

Ed: maybe they're up to some mooschiefs

" : If it's a pretty one she might be moose America.

Ed: No that's just moose-information.

Oh well, I guess we could say we've seen

Dr. Helme: mooselanders animals.

Eda Rose we moose leave now.

Wilderness 10,000 years old. Park at 10 yrs. old.

We hope to preserve it so future generations can enjoy the ~~wood~~ wilderness in the same primitive, pristine condition that we do.

Arrived back at hotel 1:30. We need to catch a bus for Fairbanks at ~~3:15~~ 4:00. Drove out of Park along Hanana River. Full of glacial silt. Coal mining in area. Owner brought in a grass to cover debris from mine. Attracted the Dall sheep in area. Gov't objected to "foreign" vegetation. Coal miner owner got around it by having area made a preserve. Now land has a herd of musk oxen.
