

Dear Tracy and Ida Row

Just got your card. You'll have an interesting 18 months in Zimbabwe! It takes a lot of courage or something to take on a job like that - Good Luck!

We are fine here, Middle daughter will soon be a Veterinarian, her dream. (She's at Cornell), Roy, the youngest, is getting an MS in Civil Engr. in June from RPI. Jill, the eldest, is happy in her legal job. She and Vir and I rode horseback nearly every weekend this fall over the local miles + miles of trails through woods + fields. After a while I figured out what the horse thinks about: Grass.

We had a good farming year and stuffed the barn with hay and oats. Got a new 4 wheel drive tractor, a FIAT, safer + better than the old 2 wheel drive one. Vir drives the tractor while baling hay so I can stack bales.

Am back working on high p + diam. sub.
Solar energy is on the back burner for a while as long as we have lots of gas and coal.

Vir's orchids are doing fine, many beautiful blooms each month it seems.

We visited Scotland & Ireland in August, enjoyed it a lot. The people are fun to talk with; the countryside are lovely. Scotland is rugged; Ireland is more rolling + fertile. A

to you and yours

Maybe you could drop
