

BLUE BOOK

In what ways did the changing perceptions of the nature of children in the 18th + 19th centuries influence child rearing practices.

Part of Puritan theology was the Calvinist belief in the doctrine of original sin. A child was born in sin. He's was a carnal nature. The idea that the child was innocent and that