

HOLIDAY GREETINGS 1983

Dear Family and Friends:

Here we go again. Can you believe another Christmas has already rolled around? Another sign of age, I guess. We welcome this time each year to send you a greeting and just a little update on our family activities. Some key events in 1983...

- Virginia (Ginni) was married in January in Arizona to Richard Lamoreaux. We are very happy for them and warmly welcome Rick and their dog Bert into our family circle. Both (not Bert) are continuing their college education and working on the side as well.
- Roger and Nancy spent the summer with us. Roger worked for Merrill Lynch on Wall Street. Nancy worked as a temporary secretary and at becoming a mother, which she did beautifully on August 3, 1983. Our 12th grandchild, Steven Andrew Kimball, arrived at Bridgeport, Connecticut, right on schedule. He stayed with us for a month and then his parents "kidnapped" him and took him to Ann Arbor, Michigan, so his Dad could go back to his 2nd MBA year at the University of Michigan.
- Spencer also was home for part of the summer from BYU. He worked diligently as a construction man, building up his financial resources for the future. He went back to Provo for his 3rd year at BYU, now in the Business School. He is captain of the BYU lacrosse team and really enjoys playing the vigorous sport against WAC and PAC 10 foes.
- We were able to visit Susan and Terry and their three children in Utah a couple of times this year. Terry has been going to a technical school in the belief that a job in electronics has a better future than one (or none) in mining. Susan works at Blue Cross in Salt Lake City. Their lovely children are a joy to their grandparents.
- Pat and Jim and their two boys have their own condo in Florida. They seem fully occupied, as parents and both working. Jim, Jr. and Chris are growing up fast and entering into the community activities for youth. We regret that Florida is out of our normal travel pattern these days, but we do plan to go there in January.
- Andrew and Kathryn and their six visited us in Fairfield in the spring during a family trip, and we drove to Pittsburgh to spend a couple of days with them at Thanksgiving. They are our nearest family members, but 450 miles away. Andrew enjoys his job at Mellon Bank and may be switching assignments soon, which will involve a move to another city.

- Phyllis and Andy have been constructively busy all year. In addition to family trips, we had our kitchen remodeled, a new roof put on, and acquired new dining room furniture Phyllis had wanted for years. Adding on Phyllis's Relief Society challenges and Andy's many hours at GE, teaching Sunday School, and raking his 150 bags of leaves seemed to fill out the rest of the year more than adequately.

Enough about us. We hope you have had a productive and happy year. We look forward to your cards and letters at Christmas time. Keep them coming.

Best wishes...
