

teachers and professors, and especially to my Father in Heaven for what has been a marvelous opportunity.

Daniel is excited about starting a new semester with some fabulous teachers and a bunch of classmates he already knows and appreciates, He recently had the joy of seeing the husband and children of a Palestinian member join the Church (he and alternating friends made the long trip each Sunday to pick them up for Church at the Jerusalem Center each Sunday and take them back--said it was quite a baptismal experience. We are taking another friend of his (from Palestine, who is visiting here) to lunch tomorrow, along with Daniel's home-teaching companion, who is visiting here from Israel for a few days and is taking back some goodies.

Laura got a full-time job at Wasatch Mental Health, where she has been interning. She will be working with children in the schools and is really happy about it, though the job does not start until June 1--so she is looking at turning hamburgers or something during the transition between getting her MA sheepskin and the start of this job. Anybody need some interim help (she's not too excited about hamburgers). It is a real blessing to have Laura and Brandon nearby. They recently got called to ward "nursery" duty and say they love their new ward.

We are looking forward to niece Emily Neil's recital this Tuesday and hope some of you will be joining us. Again, thanks for being patient with me during this recent schooling and for the prayers and support. What a relief to be almost there!

'Bye for now,

Love, Sherlene

----- Headers -----
Return-Path: <drb@itsnet.com>
Received: from relay23.mx.aol.com (relay23.mail.aol.com [172.31.106.69]) by air07.mail.aol.com (v40.7) with SMTP; Fri, 13 Mar 1998 17:37:30 -0500
Received: from scratchy.itsnet.com (scratchy.itsnet.com [192.41.96.2]) by relay23.mx.aol.com (8.8.5/8.8.5/AOL-4.0.0)