

Dear Ones:
Here it is that time of year again to remember loved ones - I guess it's a little hard for you to be away this time of year - We sure think of you often and miss you so much.

There's not much different going on around here. A lot of snow and cold weather. Did you realize? Barbara Taylor is leaving for her mission in 2 months or next. She has been studying philis and is waiting until that clears up. Anyway Becky and Jim are going to live in her home until she is gone and take care of it. We are all so happy they will be close. This will help us miss away from each other gradually. We were so sorry to hear you were hit but someone had been involved in another accident. Boy you really had some bad luck - I would like to know more about Mercedes who is a real sweetheart. The man that owned the car can't remember your name. I'm sorry more about this. You were hurt but you were injured for that. I would like you were hurt to get out. Boy you are really being tested. I would like to see the people who are next to you. It's really challenging - I guess they are pretty set in their ways but I hope to reach.

By the way we received your letter about two weeks ago. I was so good to hear from you - Becky and I both think that you will have plenty to write. I don't know if you have a face or not. The dresses are beautiful but quite short on us, but we will accept. I don't know. The old Chinese handkerchiefs are so pretty and I hope Becky will be thrilled.

Sure hope you are both feeling better and over the effects of your accident, and that Tracy's leg is better from his previous problem.
Our thoughts and prayers are with you.

Thinking of you, and wishing you happiness at Christmas time and all through the year
much love,
Lamar, Elaine,
Becky and Jordan

Have a Merry Christmas!

The orchids have been beautiful and we have shared them with all of ladies.
