- (g) Nadai, A., Theory of Flow and Fracture of Solids.
 Vol. 2. New York. McGraw-Hill. 1963
- (h) Hill, R., The Mathematical Theory of Plasticity.

 New York. Oxford University Press. 1950
- (i) Carson, R.L., Compression of a Viscoplastic Disk.

 ASME Paper No. 63-WA-28. New York. 1963
- (j) Lippincott, E.R., and Duecker, H.C., Distribution
 of Pressure in an Opposed-Anvil, High-Pressure Cell.
 Pressure Technology Session, ASME Winter Annual Meeting. New York. Paper No. 64-WA/PT-15. 1964
- (k) Hoffman, O., and Sachs, G., Theory of Plasticity for Engineers. New York. McGraw-Hill. 1953
- (1) Jackson, J.W., and Davis, R.L., An Analysis of the Stress Distribution Under Elastically Deformable

 Bridgman-Type Pressure Anvils. Pressure Technology
 Session, ASME Winter Annual Meeting. New York.

 Paper No. 64-WA/PT-27. 1964
- (m) Wentorf, R.H., Jr., Modern Very High Pressure Techniques. Washington. Butterworths. 1962
- (n) Ludwig, P., Elemente der Technologischen Mechanik.

 Springer. Berlin