

DISCUSSION

by W. B. Daniels

We have been investigating the possibilities of doing x-ray structure studies at high pressures in a device similar to that of Drickamer. Lithium hydride is being used as the sample holding and pressure transmitting fluid. This material is quite easy to handle and nearly transparent to x-rays.

Optical Studies at Hi P

Drickamer