

indicating some decomposition may have taken place.

The lattice parameters of the cubic rare earth sesquisulfides are presented in the section on X ray diffraction analysis.

The cubic compounds were found to be good electrical insulators which indicates that they were probably still the  $R_2S_3$  form rather than the  $R_3S_4$  (19).