

There is an increasing number of publications in many countries on the pressure effect on reaction rate and course. It is desired that this new approach for reaction mechanism investigation be applied on a wider basis in the chemical laboratories of the scientific institutions and universities of our country.

W. J. T. Lincoln Laboratory

APR 8 1951

Reaction - Kinetics