Dear Mr. Hall,

I have recently returned from India where I met with Dr. Agarwala to discuss the Hydrostatic Extrusion and Material Synthesis project. He requested that you furnish a number of pyrophyllite cubes already charged with the graphite and catalyst assembly so that when you come to demonstrate the press for diamond making there will be no delays. He suggested that there will be money left from the amount delegated for shipping to pay for this extra work.

It does seem like a good idea to me, and I believe it would be to your advantage to do this. You can more quickly demonstrate the press to everyone's satisfaction at NPL and make more efficient use of your time there.

Please consider doing this work. No quantities of these assemblies was mentioned, and that is best left to your judgment. If you require an additional order from the U.N.D.P., please contact me with the information and I will have the order issued.

We still remember the pleasant visit at your place last summer and hope you will visit here. Tell Mrs. Hall the orchid plant she gave us is thriving beautifully.

Very truly yours,

Mr. F.J. Fuchs
