SUBJECT Inquiry, UHP Presses

DATE May 16, 1977

Gentlemen:

Will you please supply us with price, catalog, and pertinent technical reprints relating to your line of "UHP Presses?"

Denny Shallenberger of Kennametal has suggested we contact your firm regarding the above.

Incidental to the above, do you have any knowledge of the whereabouts of Alexander Zeitlin, who used to be vice president of Barogenics, Inc., located in Mount Vernon, New York, in 1965? What happened to Barogenics? We refer to Zeitlin's article starting page 38, May 1965, "Scientific America."

Trusting you will favor us with an early response, I remain,

Cordially yours,
METROLOGY, INC.

Enclosed are a few reprints representing some of my high pressure work. A few pictures showing some of the 32 high pressure machines that I have designed and built in the past 25 years are also enclosed. The machine that is for sale is $106,000.00 + 10% patent royalty which must be paid on each machine constructed.

Sincerely

SIGNED H. Tracy Hall
