ARTICLE BB: GUARANTEED DESCRIPTIONS. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Invitation for Bids to the contrary, and subject to the limitations and conditions set out in subparagraphs a and b below, all of which are of the essence, the Government guarantees to the original Purchaser of the property that the property delivered or offered for delivery under any contract resulting from this Invitation for Bids will be as described in the Invitation for Bids.

a. That if a misdescription is determined to exist prior to removal of the property from Government control, that the sole and exclusive remedy available to the Purchaser will be refund of the purchase price of the property as to which such misdescription exists, or such portion thereof as the Government may have received.

b. That if a misdescription is determined to exist after removal of the property from Government control, then the Government will make an adjustment in the purchase price paid for the property commensurate with the market value of the property actually received provided, however, that:

(1) No adjustment will be made for shortages of property offered for sale by the "lot", and

(2) No adjustment will be made unless the Purchaser mails or otherwise furnishes to the Contracting Officer a written notice, within 30 calendar days from date of removal of the property, that the property is misdescribed and holds the property sufficiently intact to permit identification by the Government, PROVIDED FURTHER THAT THE GOVERNMENT DOES NOT WARRANT OR GUARANTEE ANY OF THE FOLLOWING:

(a) That the item description contains all specific characteristics or performance data pertaining to the item described.

(b) The stated condition of the property, the total cost of the property, the estimated total weight, the estimated shipping dimensions, suggested uses of the property, and the property's fitness for any use or purpose.

(c) Estimates as to the "weight" of the property offered for sale by the "unit" or by the "lot".

(d) Estimates as to the number of units of property offered for sale by "weight".

(e) In the event the Government uses a manufacturer's part or reference number or a Federal Stock Number in addition to detailed descriptive data in the item description, the descriptive data applicable to such part or reference number or Federal Stock Number is not guaranteed if it is inconsistent with the detailed descriptive data applicable to the item description.

CONDITIONS OF SALE — SEALED BID (CONTINUED)

(f) To the extent property is described solely by noun nomenclature, manufacturer's part or reference number and Federal Stock Number, the description data applicable to the Federal Stock Number is not guaranteed if it is inconsistent with the descriptive data applicable to the manufacturer's part or reference number.

(g) In no event will the term "or interchangeable" following a manufacturer's part or reference number be construed to guarantee that the property described consists of the part or reference number in whole or in part. Only functional interchangeability with the part or reference number is guaranteed.

c. Notwithstanding any of the exceptions stated in subparagraph b (2) (a) through (g) above, however, the Government will accept return of any property determined to have been misdescribed, to a location specified by the Contracting Officer at the Purchaser's expense, and refund to the Purchaser the purchase price or such portion thereof as the Government may have received, provided timely notice of the misdescription has been furnished to the Contracting Officer in accordance with the requirements of subparagraph b (2) above.

d. The foregoing guarantee is in lieu of all other guarantees, express or implied, and all other obligations on the part of the Government to deliver or offer for delivery property as described in the Invitation for Bids and shall not entitle the Purchaser to any payment for loss of profits or any other money damages, special, direct, indirect, or consequential; nor shall any recovery of any kind against the Government under this provision be greater in amount than a refund of the purchase price of the specific material found to have been misdescribed.

ARTICLE EC: INTEREST. Condition No. 11, General Sale Terms and Conditions (Standard Form 114C) is hereby amended by increasing the stated interest rate from six percent to eleven percent.

ARTICLE BD: MILITARY/MUNITIONS LIST ITEMS. (1) The Purchaser warrants and covenants that, except as permitted by this clause, none of the items identified in the Sales Invitation for Bids or contract as subject to this Article will be directly or indirectly used or disposed of for military use or exported from the United States, Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands without a full disclosure of the origin of the property by reference to this Invitation for Bids and contract number being made to the appropriate export licensing department or agency. (2) Notwithstanding the provisions of Paragraph (1) above, Military Munitions List items which do not require demilitarization may be sold for military or other use to the United States Government, its designees and to such foreign governments or international organizations as to which the United States Department of State issues an export license under the International Traffic In Arms Regulations (See 22 CFR, Subchapter M, Part 121, et seq.).

ARTICLE BE: RADIOACTIVE MATERIAL. Purchasers are warned that some property purchased hereunder such as, but not limited to, switches, circuit breakers, knobs, controls, pointers, instrument dials, markers, etc., may be capable of emitting ionized radiation in varying degrees. Various electron tubes may also be capable of emitting ionized radiation in varying degrees. The Government assumes no liability for damages to the property of the Purchaser or for personal injuries, disabilities or death to the Purchaser or the Purchaser's employees or to any other person arising from or incident to the purchase of this material or its use or disposition. The Purchaser shall hold the Government harmless from any or all such demands, suits, actions, or claims of whatsoever nature arising from or out of the purchase of this material. As a safety precaution, the Purchaser should also warn the future possessor or user of this property that it may be capable of emitting ionized radiation.

ARTICLE BF: PESTICIDES, INSECTICIDES, FUNGICIDES AND RODENTICIDES. Purchaser of any item of pesticide, insecticide, fungicide or rodenticide hereby certify and assure that such items shall be used only for the purposes and under the conditions specified:

- (1) It is the responsibility of the user to determine whether the intended use of the item is in compliance with local, state, federal or foreign law.
- (2) The transferee, donee or purchaser is not excused from any violation of applicable law, which may be more restrictive than the conditions imposed as a prerequisite to transfer, donation or sale.
- (3) Purchasers of insecticide, fungicide or rodenticide are subject to the regulations and restrictions imposed by the Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act of 1972 (PL 92-516) (7 U.S. Code 135 et seq.) relative to registering the insecticide, fungicide, or rodenticide with the Environmental Protection Agency and the proper labeling of containers.

ARTICLE BG: TRANSPORTING HAZARDOUS MATERIALS. The transporting of hazardous materials is governed by Department of Transportation Hazardous Materials Regulations (Title 49, Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 170-189). Although the Purchaser, as shipper, will have the responsibility to certify to the Department of Transportation (DOT) that such hazardous materials are properly classified, described, packaged, marked and labeled and are in a condition safe to transport based on the Purchaser's own examination of the material, Section 173.7(a)(1) of the DOT Regulations provides that a certification from the Department of Defense to the Purchaser describing the condition of the containers will be accepted. When shipping containers other than ICC or DOT authorized are used for shipment, a DOT special permit must be obtained from the Department of Transportation prior to the movement of the material. The exemptions provided for Department of Defense containers in Section 173.7 do not apply for this purpose.
